April Program: Kimberly Winkle

“Employing traditional furniture making techniques and materials, I build forms and structures with results that are, at times, untraditional. My interest lies in the pursuit and potential of the medium as an expressive device. I use hardwood, paint, and graphite to create my works.

The forms are generally streamlined in order to better play the role of an empty canvas for color and line.”

Kimberly finishes furniture and turnings with milk paint in interesting designs. She recently held a workshop at the North Alabama Woodturners. Our own John Killian, shown at right, participated in the workshop.

Dwight Hostetter Demo: Cowboy Hat Ornaments

I have made over 70 of these!

Start with a chunk of wood...

Great video coverage!

Rough it out

Drill out the middle

Almost finished.

Your editor had a camera problem and didn't get all the pictures I wanted of finishing the hat. But I went home and turned a hat myself using Dwight's great instructions and here is the results. Good instruction job Dwight!
